"It's only life, it ends." — M.C.

Nancy Abramson

To my family and all my crazy friends:
 "Just give me the light of the campfire, warm and bright.
 And give me some friends to sing with, I'll be here all night.
 For love is where you find it, and I've found mine right here.
 Just you and me and the campfire, and the songs we love to hear."
 — Camp Fernwood song
 I love you all.

Paula Anne Lilith Adderley

And to those I left behind
 I wanted you to know
 You've always shared my deepest thoughts
 You follow where I go ...
 And someday in the mist of time
 When they asked me if I knew you
 I'd smile and say you were a friend of mine ...
 — Alan Parsons, "Old and Wise"

Hassan A. Ahari

Experience is the most valuable thing but when the time comes to use it, it is too damn late!

Jose Ahedo

How can I summarize Andover, by just a quote? Friends, Family and love. Thank you Erica for giving me something so great as your love. My family Malcolm, Angel and Keith thanks for being there, you'll never know what that means. Sam and Sheldon keep it up you'll be at the plateau soon, For those two freshmen, don't give up you're special Kala, I'll be checking on you. Best wishes Andover, Jose.

Benjamin Aldrich-Moodie

So faith, hope, love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love. — (1 Cor 13:13) My foundations, my constant guides and companions, M, D, MJ, and J, you awe me. Greatest thanks to Chad and Rob, Randy, and Barbara, and all you so numerous others. Vous me bénissez.

"They've cradled you in custom, they've primed you with their preaching, they've soaked you in convention through and through. They've put you in a showcase, you're a credit to their teaching, but can't you hear the wild? It's calling you. LET US GO."

I am an invisible (wo)man . . . I am invisible, understand, simply because people refuse to see me. Like the bodiless heads you see sometimes in circus sideshows, it is as though I have been surrounded by mirrors of hard, distorting glass. When they approach me they see only my surroundings, themselves, or figments of their imagination — indeed everything and anything except me." Wha'fi mi, cyan be un-fi mi, right? Well, Mom and Dad, Andover was Fi Mi! I couldn't possibly have made it without your love, support, and understanding. I love you both so much. As I was walking down the path to my dorm I remembered the waves of Laura Ashley dresses and baseball caps that taught my eyes to look to the ground for comfort. I remembered the boys who squeaked at me when I tried to talk, and the girls who groaned when I walked towards them. But she had noticed my tired eyes that peeked from their wrinkled sockets and shone dimly... like the headlights on my father's rusty Subaru. So I told her about how my stomach quivered from the sadness that lived there. And she took care of me... Then I heard the gravel crunching under someone's pounding sneakers. I turned around and she was running down the path. In a split second her arm was around my shoulder and her wild black hair was tickling my face.

After a while you learn the subtle difference between holding a hand and chaining a soul, and you learn that love doesn't mean leaning and company doesn't mean security, and you begin to understand that kisses aren't contracts and presents aren't promises, and you begin to accept your defeats with your head held high and your eyes open, with the grace of a woman, not the grief of a child you learn to build your roads on today because tomorrow's ground is too uncertain for plans, and futures have a way of falling down in mid-flight. After a while you learn that even sunshine burns if you get too much, so you plant your own garden and decorate your own soul, instead of waiting for someone to bring you flowers. And you learn you can really endure, that you really are strong and you really do have worth and you learn and learn . . . and learn with every good bye you learn.

WATERPOLO

ODE TO WATERPOLO

Well, we've finally ended our season,
Which, to us, was quite pleasin'.
We hope we've given you the opportunity to see
What a great game waterpolo can be.
Junior Noah Caruso we call No-Hope,
And sometimes Captain Dave Mainen wanted to tie him up with rope.
No-Hope was always talking about food,
And this usually put Dave in a bad mood.
Next is our favorite Muppet
Who is not really just a puppet.
It's James, the Fozzie Bear, Elkus
Who also goes by the name Pelkus.
We decided that Deltoid Dan Gilbert
Was not very versed in how to flirt.
At the beginning of the season he was hurt,
But then he came back to make those other teams eat some serious
Andover dirt.

Sanjiv Desai has the best pirouettes,
But, for some reason, it doesn't result in a large number of sweats.
You just have to watch his sneaky play,
And don't let him get by you that way.

Upper Ted Yanger,
He's a serious head banger.
One of our Callie dudes,
He's always in such a cheery mood.
Goalie, Cadir Lee, is the most Stud-Lee,
But he's just too tall to be cuddly.
He's got the biggest chest in the pool —
One look, and those Exies just drool

Lower Rob Hill
Can never get his fill.
The girls think Cutting Edge is really cute,
But when you get the ball, Rob, you just gotta shoot.

Next is Eric Gregg
Who has the most powerful legs.
Our Red Romeo is not very loud,
But to our home games he always drew a large female crowd.

Of course, there's always Craig Knight — Hollywood,
Catch girls as well as Chase is only something he wishes he could.
To practice, he always was late,
Only because he was busy looking for a date.

Just ask Steve Peck,
He'll tell you Hollywood's love life is a wreck.
Steve's usually pretty quiet,
Just listen, someday he'll say something that's a riot.

And then there's Jon Safran — Saffy Duck
Who we wish could block shots like a Mack truck.
He's usually fooling around,
But on those Exies he was really excited to pound.

Hollywood jokes that Dave Mainen is already wed,
But that doesn't matter as Dave overpowers the Red.
Enemy goalies feared his skip shot,
Because blocking it was something they could not.

Captain Alex Walley was another one who was always late,
But to him and Hollywood we leave the same fate.
We think he's a fun guy,
And like him best adorned in a bow tie.

Another Desai, is manager Sharmila,
Who Sajiv says rhymes with gorilla.
Sharmila certainly doesn't resemble one,
And we think she's one of the sweetest under the sun.

Our other manager is veteran Courtney Hillegas,
Who, next year, we'll sorely miss.
Courtney's a pro with the shot clock,
And her scorekeeping we couldn't knock.

Coach Purington promised to shave
If we beat the Red Wave.
But he still looks the same,
And for that we have only ourselves to blame.

Chase Boyd we really love,
And are convinced that he's a gift from above.
Cheese Ball is too busy worrying about his Callie girls —
Maybe he should just give us Eastern girls a whirl.

And last, but I hope not least, my nickname is Cheeks.
I'm the one girl who put up with these guys for so many weeks.
I must admit I had fun too,
Even if I sometimes felt like I was part of the zoo.

Our captains Alex and Dave Successfully led the Blue Wave.
Seniors and Chase, next year we'll miss you
But the rest of us promise to stay TRUE BLUE.

POT POURRI BOARD

Blank endsheets are the rage these days in the Pot Pourri room. Still, I suggest blank middle sheets, or, better yet, an entirely blank Pot Pourri. Let everyone make their own yearbooks. The books would be more personal (that way). Give each senior a crayon, ball point pen, number two pencil, and a five dollar camera, and send them out into the vast world of P.A.

Nevertheless, in a recent board meeting, my idea was vetoed by all and sundry. Not one to rock any rowboat, I quickly agreed that, yes, indeed we should give the people a yearbook, instead of shouldering them with the responsibility of trying to remember their past on their own. Therefore, we proudly continue the tradition of Pot Pourris with pictures, writing, and artwork in them. Blank pages never had it so good.

FLUTE PLAYER: Before Western Civilization came to conquer this land, before words were scratched into the sides of the earth, before the harmony was broken and insanity filled this land, there was a time when the earth and waters here thrived. There was a great abundance of life. And the water, bluer than aryan eye, would wash up with clean froth onto the shores of this land. Shores filled with all different colors of sand: black, brown, red. The sun shone strong on the water, reflecting onto the sand that looked almost like glass. Shores filled with dark glass that shifted into the wind and absorbed the sunlight as it fell. That was the time of the great harmony.

Congratulations,

Thanks for being there for me.
Couldn't have asked for a better brother to grow up with.
I love you sue

May your future be as bright
As Broadway at night,
And your heart be as true
As the red, white, and blue.

A. E. RIE

Keep it up - you deserve the best.

Congratulations Class of '89

Sasha! Ma petite cha
4 whole years !?! I want to be just like you when I grow up!
Meanwhile, how can I ever thank you? — I'll miss you . . .
Barbara '91

To Jenny,
Not proud, just crazy
about you!
Signed Love,
Mom, George & Ben

To Samuel and Shelton Royal:
from the prophet: "YOUR CHILDREN ARE NOT YOUR CHILDREN . . . THEY ARE THE SONS AND THE DAUGHTERS OF LIFE LONGING FOR ITSELF. THEY COME THROUGH YOU BUT THEY ARE NOT YOU. THEY BELONG TO ANOTHER TIME AND YOU CANNOT GO WITH THEM, NOT EVEN IF YOU TRIED!" I pray you will go on a path that will keep you safe and free of harm.
May the ancestors always I AM SO PROUD OF BOTH OF YOU!
MOMMY (IYABEJI)

"And he awoke and rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, 'Peace be still!' And the wind ceased, and there was great calm." Mark 4:39

This was the word on your graduation day. May you have the faith to believe in HIM and in yourself to face the storms ahead and travel with HIS unchanging love. GOD BLESS YOU!!

Your Family
NANA, GRAND DADDY, AND BIG SIS RAGAN DIONNE

Dear Michael,
We had a dream for you and you made that dream come true.
We're so very proud.
A pool of memories and a wealth of knowledge are Yours to draw on forever.
Congratulations to our "strong and silent type"!

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Todd

Congratulations to Betsy Wiedenmayer and
